

Natalia Shestakova is a Russian artist (born in the Urals, Russia) with a degree from the Art Department of the State University of Magnitogorsk. As a symbolist artist, she is not only content with using color and shape to express an idea or communicate a concept, but injects her compositions with messages and esoteric references to “objectify the subjective”. Natalia Shestakova works in several forms of media, including painting, graphics, sculpture and design. Some artworks are found in private collections and museums.
